A MINI-GLIDER WITH THE SOUL
OF A FULL-SIZED WING

The current trend in paragliding design is to produce smaller and smaller wings for the latest developments in the sport, of which speed flying is the most eminent. Following this trend, but at the same time developing an entirely new concept, AERODYNE has created its latest gem: the FEEX!

The FEEX is our speed flying wing: agile, deep-diving, fast, maneuverable and precise. But the great news is that when trimmed back to reduce diving and improve the sink rate, it flies like a full-size glider, with an excellent flat turn and performance. It simply begs to go back for more, and can easily be thermalled for altitude gain - before cranking it into a sensational descent all over again!

... And when the wind picks up, thanks to a wide useable speed range it will still be more than willing to amuse, use and abuse!
